US MARKETS A SHARP decline in the dollar and news about a greater than expected trade number helped metal markets rally, reports Drexel Burnstein Lambert Gold rose 3.8 while sliver gained 12 cents. Platinum trading was more active than normal as commission house buying added strength. Copper trading was choppy but the market remained firm closing up 20. In the softs, sugar gained 40 points oo news that refined sugar is scarce in China. Coffee prices declined almost 200 based mostly on the stronger sterling. Cocoa recovered a little by advancing 29 points in December, in the meat markets, pork belly prices clo higher for the second straight day. Live ttle and hogs were even firmer as demand looks to be increasing. The grain markets all had a quist day as many await the crop report. The cotion market sold off late in the day as commission houses were seen liquidating their long positions before COmmis the report. In energy trading, crude oil es were steady until news came out of a US embassy being bombed. On that note, prices rallied 25 cents.
